Whitney @WhitneyUBSSW
A1 1/2 People may engage in sex work as a result of choice, circumstance, or force/fraud/coercion. The “choice” piece is a big part of what distinguishes sex work from human trafficking. Voluntary sex workers can make rules, set boundaries, choose/pre-screen clients, etc #MacroSW

Bianca @BiancaJBassett
@porndauhter Voluntary sex work is sex work the worker chooses to perform. Human trafficking is forced sexual labor. #MacroSW #SW521

#MacroSW Moderator @OfficialMacroSW
@EvaSchaefer9 Hi, Eva - #macroSW

RT @JennaTurchSW: THANK GOODNESS #MacroSW #MSW #gradstudentstruggle https://t.co/68Fvoyppr9

Matthew L. Schwartz, MBA, LMSW @TheMattSchwartz
A1 From the @UNODC, trafficking has three elements: recruiting individuals, transferring them, and harboring them, through the use of force/coercion/fraud, and is done for various means of exploitation (sexual, forced labor, etc.). https://t.co/N4I1R2IPFm #MacroSW https://t.co/0kOf8fWEBv
Matthew L. Schwartz, MBA, LMSW  @TheMattSchwartz  an hour ago

A1.1 Sex Work, when it is voluntary (and I have friends who are sex workers, and I have been involved myself in aligned professions as a performer - a long time ago, back when I could dance) - for it to be truly voluntary, has to exist outside of the means of coercion #MacroSW

Matthew L. Schwartz, MBA, LMSW  @TheMattSchwartz  an hour ago

A1.2 Given the system that we’re in, it is hard to say that any work that is done is, in fact, uncoerced (I’m an Anarchist, this is a discussion for a later date and time, though I recommend reading The ABC of Anarchism by Alexander Berkman who makes this case well) #MacroSW

Matthew L. Schwartz, MBA, LMSW  @TheMattSchwartz  an hour ago

A1.3 That said folx who are without means, who are marginalized, who face systemic oppression that other privileged groups and individuals do not, cannot really be said to be entering into sex work freely (or fully freely) since sometimes it’s "sex work" or don’t survive #MacroSW

Matthew L. Schwartz, MBA, LMSW  @TheMattSchwartz  an hour ago

A1.4 This causes us to examine that class differences in sex work (not only in the United States, but in other countries) but also where it has been legalized, or where it has been criminalized (and if so, against whom) #MacroSW

Whitney  @WhitneyUBSSW  an hour ago

A1 2/2 This argument, of course, hinges on whether one believes that consensual sex work is real and not the byproduct of misogynistic/heterosexist/transphobic messages being conflated with empowerment. Some may argue that choice in this field does not truly exist. #MacroSW
Lauren Markos @MarkosLauren
A1. The presence of violence, in any form. If an individual is pushed towards, or coerced into the sex trade through any form of violence their free will is taken, and along with it the full agency required to willingly engage. This transforms sex work into trafficking #macrosw

A1 Voluntary sex work is when someone decides out of their own choice to get financially compensated for sex. Human trafficking is forcing someone to give up their rights to choose who to have sex with, usually your life is threatened. #MacroSW

Alberto Cifuentes Jr @BurBur4Eva an hour ago
@porndaughter I think the 2 terms get conflated where many think they’re synonymous. Voluntary sex work involves consent-willingness by the sex worker to participate in this type of work. Human trafficking, sometimes in the form of sex trafficking, is rooted in coercion/exploitation. #MacroSW

Lisa @safetymom4 an hour ago
A2: thinking of sex work as a voluntary field, technology could provide safety measures as well as financial means of controlling transactions without carrying cash #MacroSW
Jenna Graeff @GraeffJenna

The key term to consider is voluntary; choice must also be an area of consideration. However, manipulation and coercion play a role in targeting vulnerable populations affected by human trafficking #MacroSW

Anna Sharpe @AnnaSharpeSW @Richard_G_Boyer @porndaughter Hi Richard - I would disagree with that, because those doing voluntary sex work are doing it because they want to. #MacroSW #SW521

Amanda Milano @mandarrin A1 part 2- but it really depends on how you look at it. Some individuals participate in voluntary sex work to better their situations that may be out of their control--financial stressors, which make this less voluntary......#macrosw

Matthew L. Schwartz, MBA, LMSW ⚅ @TheMattSchwartz A1.5 to be clear, my position as that sex work is real work, and that sex work is labor; the bigger question (for me) is the privileges and oppressions that exist that allow some to partake in it more safely, more freely than others #MacroSW

Kristin B. Frazee @porndaughter A1: 2/4 "categorizing everyone as victims of sex trafficking (or not) creates an unhelpful dichotomy within the law and social services of looking for victims that are always under some form of force, fraud, or coercion..." #MacroSW

Amelia Stachowiak @astachow2 @porndaughter Voluntary sex work would be done by someone who chooses to do the work without feeling the push from financial need or coercion. Human trafficking generally involves people being forced against their will to do something. Therefore, not voluntary. #MacroSW
Alberto Cifuentes Jr @BurBur4Eva @porndaughter This does not mean that sex work isn't necessarily exploitive. However, voluntary sex work involves agency and emphasizes the bodily autonomy of the practicing sex worker. #MacroSW

@SocialWorkersRJ Thanks for sharing... I think social workers should be able to work with law enforcement, but I definitely agree that law enforcement should be held in higher standard and should be scrutinized and criminalized for cases related to trafficking. #MacroSW

A3: sex work is quite likely going to exist in most every community in the US in some way or another. SWkrs can embrace this w/better understanding of the phenomena & help create less stigma and better understanding - out of the shadows. #MacroSW @porndaughter @OfficialMacroSW
